THE LATEST.

Senator-elect Thomas H. Paynter yesterday resigned as Judge of the Appellate Court and Judge John M. Lassing probably will be appointed as his successor. The resignation was handed in prematurely in order that the judicial vacancy may be filled at the regular fall election.

The House yesterday sent the Agricultural Appropriation Bill to conference after adopting a substitute amendment to the Beverage meat inspection amendment. During the proceedings Minority Leader Williams enlivened the debate with a semi-humorous speech.

The Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington yesterday resumed its inquiry into the relations of the railroads and the coal companies. President Berwind and Secretary Chase, of the P. & O. White Coal Company, were among the witnesses examined.

The Kentucky Educational Association began its annual sessions yesterday in Bowling Green. Chief in its desired accomplishments is the standardization of the curriculum in the State's high schools and colleges. High-class papers were read yesterday.

Dr. W. T. Harris, Commissioner of Education, has tendered his resignation to the President, and the latter yesterday announced the appointment of Dr. Elmer E. Brown, professor of education in the University of California, as his successor.

J. P. Pinns, formerly a Lieutenant in the United States army, stationed at Fort Davis, committed suicide by jumping overboard from the steamer Ohio while the vessel was en route from Nome to Seattle.

Abductor John Kean, arrested Monday, was yesterday sentenced in Philadelphia to twenty years in the penitentiary. The disposition of his case was the quickest in the history of the Pennsylvania courts.

The rectifiers have won a victory over the bottled-in-bond whiskey men. The House Committee on Foreign Commerce decided to change the wording of the Pure Food Bill in defining blended liquors.

Home-coming celebrations were held in many Kentucky cities yesterday, and everywhere there was a surplus of enjoyment. The crowds were big and all features of the programmes were enjoyable.

In the trial of Andrew Williams at Evansville, charged with shooting Marshal Robert Williams, of Booneville, Ind., the defendant's mother yesterday testified that she fired the shot.

JUDGE PAYNTER LEAVES BENCH

Hands In Resignation, Effective August 1.

Wants Vacancy Filled at Regular Fall Election.

Judge John M. Lassing Tipped for Appointment.

WOULD WANT RE-ELECTION.

Frankfort, Ky., June 19.—[Special.]—Judge Thomas H. Paynter, of the Court of Appeals, whom the Democratic majority of the General Assembly at the recent regular session elected to a seat in the Senate of the United States as the successor of Senator J. C. S. Blackburn, to-day filed his resignation with Gov. Beckham to take effect on August 1 next. The resignation will be filed in the Executive Department tomorrow morning and accepted by the Governor. The Hon. John M. Lassing, of Boone county, Circuit Judge of the Boone-Owen district, is slated for appointment to fill the vacancy and it is expected that the Governor will take immediate action in the matter of the appointment.

The resignation and appointment at this time make it necessary for an election to be held in the Appellate district this fall at the general election time, and the Governor's appointee will make the race, very probably without opposition from within the Democratic party. It has been known for some time past that Judge Paynter would resign early in the fall and it is said that it was deemed best for the party to have the place filled by election at the general election of this year. In filing his resignation at this time, Judge Paynter said:

"I resigned at this time to take effect August 1 so that my successor can be elected at the ensuing November election. I am the Constitution authorizes it. Besides, I am going to practice law, and prefer to begin this fall, as the courts will soon adjourn for the summer vacation."

Judge Paynter has sat upon the appellate bench since January 5, 1895, resigning a seat in Congress to become a member of the court. His resignation at this time will give him an opportunity to begin the practice of his profession before the Appellate Court, which he intends taking up before he goes to Washington to take his seat in the Senate. His term as Senator begins March 4, 1907.

NEW CONTRACTS LET Covering Changes Provided For State Capitol.

Frankfort, Ky., June 19.—[Special.]—The State Capitol Commissioners to-day contracted for the expenditure of the greater portion of the $250,000 appropriated by the General Assembly at the recent regular session for the making of needed changes in the plans for the Capitol under construction.

The contracts for these changes, the substitution of Georgia marble for Bedford stone in the interior of the building, and for the use of copper in the construction of the dome, were awarded to the General Supply and Construction Company, the general contractors for the building. The contract for the pediment of the building was awarded to Charles H. Hebeaux, a well known New York sculptor, whose work for this part of the building was submitted to the Assembly during the winter. With the contracts for the dome, thus let, President Taylor, of the Construction Company, expresses the belief that a credit of $400,000, the total cost of the building, where the main granite is to be used, necessitating an additional expenditure of about $250,000 for the pediment and dome, will be sufficient to complete it.

Under the contracts awarded, the election of the Bedford stone to Georgia marble will cost to the State $75,000, and the substitution of copper for stone that would have been used in the dome will cost $150,000. Other changes ordered by the commission are the substitution of the main granite for the Bedford stone, and the substitution of the main granite for the Bedford stone, and the substitution of the main granite for the Bedford stone.

State Auditor's Agent Tillman Albright, of Mayfield, who has made his headquarters at Louisville for several years, completed today the term of office. He has held the place for four years by appointment of the late Auditor Gus G. Coulter. The term of office of Agent F. A. Lucas, of Paducah, will expire on June 28 next, and he will not be reappointed by the new Auditor. The third place was held by A. W. Harrison, of Lexington, and the fourth by George M. Alexander, of Louisville.

These four good berths were arranged for by former Auditor Coulter during the second year of his term in that office. He had them provided for by a revenue bill submitted to and adopted by the General Assembly. The appointments were for four years, and they held over for two years under the term of Auditor Hager.

The State Board of Equalization to-day took final action as to the assessment of property in the counties of Grant, Greenup and Gallatin, after hearing delegations from those counties. In Grant a raise of 10 per cent. on farm land and personalty was ordered. In Greenup a raise of 5 per cent. on the same classes of property, and in Gallatin a raise of 15 per cent.

To-morrow the board will hear delegations from the counties of Harrison and Kenton and take final action as to their assessment.

Gov. Beckham to-day appointed Attorney Green A. Denham, of Whitley county, Commonwealth's Attorney of the Twenty-sixth Judicial district, to fill the vacancy created by the changing of counties of the district and of the Twenty-seventh district. By the change Commonwealth's Attorney J. N. Sharp went into the Twenty-seventh district. The counties of the Twenty-sixth are Bell, Harlan and Whitley.

The regents of the State Normal Schools provided by act of the General Assembly at the recent regular session, met here to-day in the Department of Public Instruction for conference with Supt. Fuqua, Attorney General Hays and Attorney McQuinn & Brown, regarding the defense to be presented in the case filed by S. A. Marse, a Bell county taxpayer, to test the constitutionality of the act. It was determined to push the case to speedy hearing so as to delay as little as possible preparations for opening the schools in September next. The case is to be heard before Circuit Judge Stout at Paris on Wednesday of next week.

FREIGHT TRAIN AND PASSENGER COLLIDE

NEAR MIDDLESBORO AND SEVERAL SUFFER INJURIES.

MISS IDA ARNOLD PROBABLY FATALITY HURT.

FREIGHT CREW RESPONSIBLE.

Middlesboro, Ky., June 19.—[Special.]—In a collision between a through freight train and a local passenger train on the Louisville and Nashville railroad two miles north of Middlesboro several persons were injured, one perhaps fatally.

The responsibility for the accident rests with the crew of the freight, who failed to go into siding at Excelsior. The passenger train, which runs between Middlesboro and Jellico, Tenn., was on time, having left Middlesboro a few minutes previous to the accident. The trains came together on a curve near the plant of the United States Leather Company, the passenger having just cleared a long trestle. Both engines were smashed and the express and baggage car of the passenger train was demolished. Other coaches remained on the track. The freight carried a long string of cars. After the accident the coaches which remained on the track were brought to Middlesboro with the injured persons, who were taken to the hospital. Doctors from this city attended them. Miss Arnold's injuries are probably fatal.

QUICK PUNISHMENT FOR ABDUCTOR KEAN ARRESTED ONE DAY AND CONVICTED THE NEXT.

TWENTY YEARS IN PRISON, COURT'S SENTENCE.

WIFE IS WORST SUFFERER.

Philadelphia, June 19.—Twenty years of hard labor in solitary confinement in the Eastern penitentiary was the sentence pronounced to-day on John Joseph Kean, the abductor of little Freddie Muth. The enormity of the man's crime stirred the officers of the law to quick action, and the swiftness with which justice moved has never been equaled in this community.

Kean fell into the clutches of the law yesterday afternoon about the time the courts were closing. Promptly at 10 o'clock this morning he was photographed and measured by the Bertillon method. Twenty-five minutes later he had been arraigned before a Magistrate and committed to court without bail.

The grand jury quickly found a true bill, and at 11:20 a. m. he was in the criminal court awaiting his turn to be called for trial. Shortly after 12 o'clock the Judge passed sentence, and at 1:30 the great iron door of the penitentiary closed behind him. In his quick trip from liberty to prison no friendly hand or voice was raised in the prisoner's behalf. If he behaves himself, his sentence will be reduced to twelve years and three months. The court had the power to give him a life sentence.

Much sympathy is expressed for the wife and three children. Kean leaves without means of support. Mrs. Kean is prostrated by the shock and distress, and will break up her home here and remove to New York, where she has relatives.

FOUND HIM IN TREE SURROUNDED BY WOLVES.

Calumet, Mich., June 19.—Justice of the Peace Hickey, who was lost for forty-eight hours, was found by a searching party up in a tree to-day. He had been there all night with a pack of wolves under him.

WILLIAMS ENLIVENS DEBATE

Humorous Remarks on Meat Inspection.

Public Should Pay For Sanitary Legislation.

Court Review Clause for Beverage Amendment.

BILL SENT TO CONFERENCE.

Washington, June 19.—With practical unanimity the House to-day adopted the substitute amendment of the Beverage amendment to the Agricultural Appropriation Bill relating to meat inspection, the objectionable features of former amendments being eliminated and the amendment perfected to meet the wishes of the President. An effort was made to extend the time of debate, but Mr. Wadsworth, chairman of the Committee on Agriculture, desiring to get the bill into conference as soon as possible, objected to the granting of additional time, although nearly an hour was consumed in the explanation and debate upon the measure. After the adoption of the amendment the bill was sent to conference, the conferees being Mr. Wadsworth, Mr. Scott (Kas.), and Mr. Lamb (Va.).

Mr. Wadsworth Explains.

Mr. Wadsworth, in explaining the changes made in the substitute for the original meat inspection amendment, said that the changes were mostly in verbiage and then took them up seriatim. He called attention to the clause providing for the review of the clause and the date of inspection.

Continuing Mr. Wadsworth said: "The paragraph in the original Senate amendment made the judgment of the Secretary of Agriculture mandatory and final. That clearly was unwise and unjudicious. In conclusion I want to say that the bill is entirely fair and just, and in order to make matters entirely fair and just, inserted in the bill a clause giving the right to the courts, which the ablest lawyers on the floor claimed is granted under the Constitution and the existing general laws."

Therefore, I say the clause was entirely fair and just, and in order to make matters entirely fair and just, inserted in the bill a clause giving the right to the courts, which the ablest lawyers on the floor claimed is granted under the Constitution and the existing general laws."

Justice must be blind, as charged. Merchant who stole on big scale goes free. But purloiner of quarter gets six years.

NEW YORK HAS TWIST OF LAW.

New York, June 19.—Freedom for a man who pleaded guilty to selling merchandise valued at nearly $100,000, which did not belong to him, and approved the money, and six years in prison for another who stole 25 cents, were the portions meted out to two prisoners to-day. Henry Hirschman was a member of the firm of Hirschman Bros., jobbers in gentlemen's furnishings in 1904 and 1905. It is alleged that by merit the firm obtained a high commercial rating, upon the strength of which they bought about $100,000 worth of goods on credit, disposed of them at a forced sale for cash and invested the proceeds in real estate. Then they sailed for Europe. Action taken by the creditors forced the firm into bankruptcy, and last year the brothers were indicted for grand larceny. When Henry was arraigned to-day and entered a plea of guilty, a representative of the creditors appeared in court and asked that sentence be suspended, as the prisoner and his brother had made partial payment and promised to make complete satisfaction. Henry's brother, Joseph, probably will be brought to trial.

The man who went to prison was John Clark, who had no home. He is forty-five years old and had served two previous sentences in Sing Sing. Clark was walking up the Bowery a week ago when he was arrested standing in front of his shop flipping a silver quarter in the air. Clark sprang upon him, seized the coin and started for the nearest saloon. He had gone but a few steps, when he ran into the arms of a policeman, who held him until Clark was taken to the Bowery.

"As a broader general principle, Mr. Speaker, all sanitary legislation ought to be paid for by the public. The reason for that rule is that nobody is, as a rule, responsible for unsanitary conditions. When the bubonic plague or yellow fever invades the country, everybody knows that nobody wants to be the vehicle of the transfer of those dangerous diseases. Nobody wants to catch them for the purpose of giving them to his neighbor. That is the reason of the rule that the public ought to pay the expense, but the very reason points out the exception. Sometimes an unsanitary condition is brought about by the voluntary action of the individual. Whenever that is the case, the expense of curing the condition which has been brought about by their acts ought to be borne by them. (Applause.) And I for one had hoped that the evil-doers stand the expense of curing their own evil doing, but the House has decided otherwise. We are faced with this condition, and being faced with it, it is as good as an outcome as could be expected."

Sanitary Legislation.

On behalf of the schools, Prof. Dicky acted in place of the Hon. John W. Wilkins, who was unable to be present. He said a lot of nice things about everybody. A bad boy he defined as a person who has a bad temper. There is a difference, he said, between meanness and mischief, and the teacher who cannot distinguish between the two has no business in the school. Prof. McHenry Rhoads, superintendent of the Owensboro schools, took charge of the meeting. Fully 400 persons, many of them, however, students at the school, were in the hall. A large number of the educators came to the meeting, and will come in the morning. Mr. Rhoads announced that the Executive Committee, of which he is a member, were present, but not elected T. W. Vinson, of Lexington, business manager of the Southern School Journal, as temporary secretary. The vacancy was caused by the resignation of W. H. McConnell, who accepted a position in the State Treasury Department at Washington. Those officers and members of the Executive Committee who were in attendance at the meeting to-day were: Prof. Rhoads, H. C. McKee, vice president, Frankfort; Mrs. Clara Wilson Stewart, vice president, Morehead; J. P. W. Brouse, Somerset, president, High School section; D. M. Holbrook, Morehead, president, superintendents' section.

Much interest was caused by the address of Dr. J. E. McKee, president of the Kentucky Educational Association, who advocated the establishment of a Federal bureau to conduct experiments in education much the same as agricultural experiment stations are conducted. Education, he said, is the corner stone of free government. We extol the efficiency of our teachers, he said, and boast of our school system, but the future of the country will be in great danger unless a fair share of the country's wealth is devoted to the education of the children who are to be the future citizens. Dr. McKee's subject was "A Square Deal for the Children." The deal, he said, does not consist in money for education, but in constructive forces must be stronger than destructive. The Government must establish an Educational Bureau, but the future of America is threatened, Dr. McKee did not go into full details.

Prof. D. B. Estes, superintendent of schools of Logan county, Russellville, discussed the subject of a square deal, but did not take up the matter of a Governmental Educational Bureau.

been some muck-raking that has been going on in connection with this matter, and I want to pay my individual tribute to a member of this House. I think that the muck-raking legislation he has been mistaken, especially upon the point of not making the evil-doers pay for curing the evil condition brought about by their own action. There has been some muck-raking in which there has been a disposition to charge all sorts of wrong motives on the gentleman from New York (Mr. Wadsworth, the chairman of the Committee on Agriculture). I served with him for eight or ten years on a committee of this House. I have known him to cast more votes against his own interest than any man in this House. (Applause.) He is a worthy son of a noble sire (applause), and an honest man if God makes honest men (applause), and I believe He does. If the muck-raking disturbance between the two gentlemen from New York had come off, my reasoning would have been with the other gentleman from New York, but my affections and feelings would have been with this gentleman from New York. (Applause.) I think we have had entirely enough anyhow; too much tolerance for the idea that whenever men honestly differ about a public measure their motives are to be impugned and their integrity to be attacked. (Applause.)

De Armond's Sarcasm.

Mr. De Armond (Mo.), paid a tribute to the minority members of the Agricultural Committee, Mr. Lamb (Va.), Mr. Chandler (Miss.), and Mr. Bostie (Ala.), who he thought ought to have a "whiff of the odor from the bouquets which are being tossed about." He said these gentlemen had demonstrated in connection with the matter a devotion to public duty as well as a comprehension of it which will entitle them to the gratitude of their constituents as well as the good wishes of the United States.

Mr. De Armond made reference to Mr. Wadsworth not only as an agriculturist, but his achievements in the realm of literature, which brought forth a hearty round of laughter from the House. Then with fine sarcasm he said it would be an awful injustice to compel a millionaire packer, through whose establishments the agents of the Government went, to be compelled to wash their noses and cloths with disinfectants, to save a few cents for the inspection of a beef and 3 cents for a hog or sheep in order that his products might go through interstate and foreign commerce and be sold. Sarcasm he said that would be an outrage.

Adams Closes Debate.

Mr. Adams (Wis.), whose effort to bring about harmony between conflicting interests, has been crowned with success closed the debate. After reviewing what the Secretary of Agriculture had done in sending a committee to Chicago to investigate the packing houses there and later when Messrs. Neill and Reynolds made their

EDUCATORS WELL STARTED

Big Attendance At Opening Session.

Plenty of Business, Says President Rhoads.

Effort to Standardize Certain Curricula.

HIGH CLASS PAPERS READ.

Bowling Green, Ky., June 19.—[Special.]—Nothing sensational. Nothing but business. That's what President McHenry Rhoads, of the Kentucky Educational Association, said in speaking of what would be accomplished by the annual session which convened here this morning in Van Meter Hall. Forty children of the local schools opened the session with a hearty song of welcome.

About 200 of the members of the association are here. Some have been kept away by Home-coming celebrations and some will arrive to-morrow. The only definite action taken by the association to-day was the authorization of the appointment by President Rhoads of a committee of six to look into the matter of standardizing the curricula of the high schools and colleges of the State, the committee to report recommendations at the next session. The afternoon was taken up by an address by Dr. F. W. Hilt, president of Central University, in which he said that the colleges of the State would co-operate gladly with the high schools in such a step. President Rhoads will appoint the committee to-morrow.

Big Attendance.

Morehead House, the headquarters of the association, is full, and the local Reception Committee, of which J. M. Guillems is chairman, meets every train to escort visitors to other quarters. The "City of Schools" extends the glad hand to the visitors.

The Morning Session.

"A Square Deal for Kentucky's children, that is meant by it and how to get it," was the keynote of the address, and papers first ordered or read before the association. The question of teachers' salaries as they affect the efficiency and standard of the teacher and have bearing on the square deal question, also received attention. Prof. S. S. Dicky, teacher and member of the Bowling Green School Board, raised a storm of objections when he said that he didn't like to hear teachers talk about poor pay. The teachers' compensation, he said, is not all money and is supplied by the satisfaction of work well done.

The invocation by the Rev. J. S. Hill, pastor of the First Baptist church, of Bowling Green, contained an allusion to the rights of children and the great work of the teacher. He followed immediately by the children of the Bowling Green schools, and the audience joined in singing "America."

Prof. T. C. Cherry, superintendent of the Bowling Green schools, as chairman of the Local Executive Committee, presided and introduced the Rev. J. M. Thomas, County Attorney of Warren county, who, on behalf of the city, welcomed the visitors. He said the teachers welcome, saying that disinterested and high-minded educators are the most potent force for good government.

on the "Mission of the County Superintendent." He spoke of the crying need of larger salaries and more and better work to earn larger salaries. The County Superintendent, he said, would accept the responsibility for the satisfactory progress of the schools under him, and if this were not so they should be should do a little self examination. He alluded hopefully to the time when free country will have but one School Board, thus expediting the work of the Superintendent. Emory White, Superintendent of the Warren county schools, was merciful, and as it was past noon said briefly that he endorsed Mr. Allen's views. "The ideal Superintendent," he concluded, "is to his corps of teachers as a general is to his army."

Prof. Felix Kerrick, instructor in physical science at the Manual Training High School, Louisville, was not present.

Technical education and manual Association in session at a whole this afternoon. The first address on the subject was that of John T. Falk, professor of machine design in State College, Lexington.

The nature and scope of technical training occupied the attention of the Association in session at a whole this afternoon. The first address on the subject was that of John T. Falk, professor of machine design in State College, Lexington.

The speaker recommended short courses in the sciences, chemistry and physics, and in mathematics as preliminary to technical instruction, and strongly recommended that training for boys of twelve years and upwards during the summer months.

The arrangement of the afternoon was given over to the discussion of the problems of superintendents. D. M. Holbrook, of Morehead, presided. Those who took part were: Miss Nannie E. Fields, superintendent of the Morgan county schools; J. H. Coyle, of Leitchfield; Dr. J. E. McKee, of Olive Hill Normal; Warren Patten, of Leitchfield; and J. H. Boothe, of Olive Hill Normal. Warren Patten was elected president of the superintendents' section and C. E. Dudley, of Pembroke, president of the High School section. Dr. Hilt made the chief address of the High School meeting. Cincinnati, June 19.—John M. Pattison, chosen Chief Executive of Ohio on a Democratic ticket, lies dead at his home in Milford to-night, and Andrew L. Harris, elected Lieutenant Governor as a Republican, has, under the State Constitution, assumed the responsible duties of Governor. Messages of condolence have come to the stricken home of the late Governor to-day from all sections of the country.

As a fitting tribute to their late Chief Executive, a cessation from all work in the State during the hours of the funeral was recommended in the first proclamation of Gov. Harris, which was issued this afternoon.

BERWIND APPEARS BEFORE COMMISSION

SECRETARY OF COMPANY ALSO QUESTIONED.

LITTLE EVIDENCE OF IMPORTANCE DEVELOPED.

LAWYER HEEBNER PROTESTS.

Washington, June 19.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today resumed its investigation into the question of ownership by railroad companies or their officers or employees of coal and oil stocks or properties, as called for by the Tillman-Gillespie resolution. The first witness was E. B. Chase, secretary of the Berwind-White Coal Company. Questioned as to the amount of coal from the company which goes over the Harbors pier at Jersey City, he replied that the Berwind-White Company did not know the amount except by the estimated railroad weights, and that he had no way of ascertaining if the Berwind-White Company had been paid for all the coal that went to the New York City railroads, except that they were paid on estimated weights.

George E. Dickinson, bookkeeper of the Berwind-White Company, testified that there was no use in which could tell the actual scale weight sold per annum by the Berwind-White Company. The books, he said, were not summed up at the end of the year to see where the company stood, nor did he know whether there ever was a profit or loss. He believed such matters were handled by the Philadelphia office. At first he said he did not know who in the Philadelphia office had charge of them, but later said that it was Mr. Chase. On further questioning, he said that he had no way of ascertaining if the Berwind-White Company had been paid for all the coal that went to the New York City railroads, except that they were paid on estimated weights.

THE OLD PLEA

He "Didn't Know It Was Loaded."

The coffee drinker seldom realizes that there is no use in which could tell the actual scale weight sold per annum by the Berwind-White Company. The books, he said, were not summed up at the end of the year to see where the company stood, nor did he know whether there ever was a profit or loss. He believed such matters were handled by the Philadelphia office. At first he said he did not know who in the Philadelphia office had charge of them, but later said that it was Mr. Chase. On further questioning, he said that he had no way of ascertaining if the Berwind-White Company had been paid for all the coal that went to the New York City railroads, except that they were paid on estimated weights.

"I consulted a physician," was told all my troubles came from indigestion, but was not informed what caused the indigestion, so I kept on with the coffee and kept on with the troubles, too, and my case continued to grow worse from year to year until it developed into chronic diarrhea, nausea and severe attacks of vomiting so I could keep nothing on my stomach and became a mere shadow reduced from 125 to 115 pounds. A specialist informed me I had a very severe case of catarrh of the stomach which had got so bad he could do nothing for me and I became convinced my days were numbered.

"Then I thought I could stand coffee again, but as soon as I tried it my old troubles returned and I again turned to Postum. Would you believe it, I did not get the good qualities of Postum until I had been on it for some time. I am now a well man with no more headache, sick stomach or vomiting and have already gained back to 142 pounds. Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

LEADER WILLIAMS ENLIVEN DEBATE

report emphasizing that the committee from the department had reported, he said, the President reported the facts to Congress.

Why? asked Mr. Adams. "In order that public sentiment might be stirred all over the United States, and that the legislative judgment of this body and the other across the Capitol might be stirred to enact into law a provision for governmental inspection which should insure the healthfulness, wholesomeness, the cleanliness, the purity and perfection of American meat products. (Applause.)

"A bill passed the Senate, passed without consideration, containing a provision conceived by a gentleman who wished to do good things, who was moved by a good purpose. That bill was the perfect. Hearings were held by the committee of which I am a member. Ample consideration was granted, all interest in the matter, the question of the packing industry admitted that every conclusion of Mr. Neil and Mr. Reynolds should be carried out. He said he was in the majority in the first report which came here for a court review and now that provision had gone out of the house.

"It is true that I have consulted with the President. It is true the Speaker of the House has taken hold of this thing as a member of the House and as an American citizen and has worked with Mr. Roosevelt. Neither has shown any of the spirit of the amendment. The amendment was then adopted.

Protest From Williams.

Mr. Wadsworth's motion to send the bill to conference was then agreed to with the single dissenting vote of Mr. De Armond. The Speaker appointed as conferees Mr. Wadsworth, Mr. Scott and Mr. De Armond.

Mr. Williams (Miss.) interposed a vigorous protest at the last appointment. The chair having passed over Messrs. Lamb (Va.) and Bowie (Ala.), both being opposed to the committee amendment, the most important thing in the face of Mr. Lamb and he protested. A vigorous conference was held at the close between the Speaker, Mr. Williams and Mr. Wadsworth. The Speaker withdrew the conferees temporarily, and Mr. Williams and Mr. Wadsworth and Scott and substituted Mr. Lamb for Mr. Lever, the latter having asked to be excused.

When the bill was returned to the Senate Senator Proctor, chairman of the Committee on Agriculture, asked that the most important amendment be printed and the bill lie on the table.

Other Bills Passed.

Immediately after the disposition of the Agricultural Appropriation Bill bills under suspension of the rules were passed. Among the more important was the bill in relation to the immunity of witnesses in Government cases; to establish the standard of value and to provide for the collection of taxes in the Philippines and granting the right of the city of St. Louis to erect a free bridge across the Mississippi river at that point.

Through the efforts of Mr. Champ Clark and Mr. Williams, the bill known as the subsidiary silver measure failed of securing enough votes to pass it under the rule.

PREACHER DISGUSTED

With Speaker's Attitude On Meat and Pure Food Bills.

Washington, June 19.—Rev. Henry Coleman, of Milwaukee, is greatly stirred up over the course of the Speaker in relation to the inspection and Pure Food Bills. To-day Speaker Clark non received the following from him:

"Though I have never in fifty years been a member of the Democratic ticket, your course in the meat inspection and Pure Food Bills turns me very nearly toward the Democrats for relief."

To this the Speaker in his characteristic way replied:

"When I was a boy on the Wabash the maxim ascribed to Davy Crockett, 'Be sure your right, then go ahead,' was in universal use. I commend it to you."

The Agricultural Appropriation Bill was then sent to conference. There was some disagreement over the selection of the minority members of the conference and the Speaker stated that he would announce the conferees later.

SENATOR KNOX SPEAKS.

Makes Argument in Favor of Lock Type Canal.

Washington, June 19.—Senator Knox addressed the Senate at length to-day in support of the lock type for the Panama canal, contending that in point of feasibility and economy it is far superior to the sea level plan. He took direct issue with Senator Kittredge as to the safety of the Gatun dam.

Will Report Favorably.

Washington, June 19.—The House Committee on Appropriation to-day made a favorable report on the bill authorizing an annual appropriation of $60,000 to pay the traveling expenses of the President of the United States, and such guests as he may invite. Chairman Tawney was forewarned of the bill and the suspension of the rules, and action probably will be secured to-morrow.

Want To Avoid Long Debate.

Washington, June 19.—From present indications the conferees on the Railroad Rate Bill will not reach an agreement until some time next week, when in all probability, will be the last week of the session. The purpose of withholding their report, it is said, is to avoid a repetition of the long debate in the Senate which followed the recent report of the conferees.

JAMES A. BAILEY'S WILL MAY BE CONTESTED.

Left Millions and Now Come Intimations of Testamentary Incapacity.

White Plains, N. Y., June 19.—A contest over the several million dollar estate left by James A. Bailey, the circus owner, who died last April, was today being waged in the courts. The will was made to the probate of his will. The objectors are Anna E. Robinson and Mary Gordon, nieces of Bailey, who reside in Detroit, Mich., and Gordon Dancy, a nephew. The papers were filed with Surrogate Slikman here to-day. The objectors allege among other things that Mr. Bailey was not competent at the time the instrument was signed. Under the will, the estate will in question Mr. Bailey's entire estate goes to his

SATELLITES OF MERCURY

May Again Pass In Brilliant Array.

Plans to Reorganize the Former Society.

Letters Calling For Meeting Already Sent Out.

STORY OF ACHIEVEMENTS.

The movement looking to the reorganization of the Satellites of Mercury is meeting with universal commendation not only on the part of business men, but of all who are in any way interested in the growth and reputation of Louisville. A circular calling for a meeting of former Satellites and others interested in the reorganization of this body has been sent out and there is every reason to believe that out of this meeting will grow a permanent organization which will hold a carnival in this city during the first two weeks of each year similar to the Mardi Gras festivities of New Orleans and other Southern cities that will eclipse any of the preceding pageants and attendant celebrations ever held in Louisville.

The idea of the promoters is to form an organization independent of the commercial bodies and merchant associations of the city, but one that will at the same time greatly benefit local trade conditions and the business community. The promoters are confident that they will receive support from these institutions. Louisville's growth during the last few years and the expansion of her trade interests and the development of her manufacturing possibilities make the success of an annual celebration of this sort an unquestioned possibility. The central location of the city, its metropolis, with its abundant transportation facilities by rail and river, gives it an advantage over any other city in the country for a festival of this kind and the success of the recent Home Coming celebration has started a slogan of "Louisville the center of the world," that practically assures the complete co-operation hereafter of every mercantile and business interest in securing future conventions or in arranging permanent celebrations. Louisville made a complete success of the Satellites of Mercury for a number of years under conditions far less favorable than those now existing. Kansas City has its Fairs, Memphis, its Memphis celebration; New Orleans, its Mardi Gras, with its Rex, Momus, Komus, Proteus, Atlantis and its Twelfth Night Revelers, and now with the reorganization of the Satellites, this city should have a celebration equal or superior to any of these festivities.

Origin of Satellites.

The original Satellites of Mercury had its origin in the plans proposed and executed by Fayette Clarke, who so successfully produced the night pageant during Home-coming Week. He labored unceasingly in the interest of this organization through the several years that the festivities were produced, and was the Rex in the initial festival given in 1888. Young E. Allen has the honor of having given the name to the organization. Mercury was suggested as the patron god of trade and, according to custom, he arrived in Louisville via the Ohio river and was met at the wharf by his satellites.

A parade through the main streets of the city followed, where gorgeously caparisoned horses drawing floats resplendent in their beauty and symbolic in their conception portrayed the myths of the ancients, stories of Arabian nights, or facts of history.

Work of the Organization.

Two hundred active members composed the organization, which was complemented by passive or dual members. P. N. Clarke was the first president of the organization and remained the leading spirit through the following years. The parade was followed by a ball, whose queen achieved a distinction that has not been surpassed in the history of the city. The first pageant was the Feast of Flowers, but there was no queen of the ball. The second pageant represented the adventures of Sinbad the Sailor. That year John H. Brand impersonated Mercury and Miss Harbour Bruce his queen. The third pageant was the pictorial representation of scenes from Herod, Dr. William Chatham was Mercury and Miss Edith Vandell his queen. The fourth pageant represented great discoveries, both of mythology and of historic times. John Buchanan was Rex and Miss Elise Castleman his queen.

The following year there was no parade, but instead Lilla Rookh was portrayed in scenic magnificence on the stage of the Auditorium. This year Fred DeFunaki was Rex and Miss Melie Carter his queen. The fifth pageant was the celebration of the Satellites ended. No Mercury was chosen, but a grand ball in spectacular costume was given at the Galt House. Miss Laura Brand was queen.

The revival of the Satellites is made more feasible on account of the ability to secure the old Armory building for purposes of preparation, in building the floats and designing scenery costumes. A working arrangement has been entered into by the promoters of the fall celebration and the lessees of this building, by which its use can be secured during the summer months preceding the celebration when it is unoccupied as a skating rink. The next celebration will be held in the fall of 1907.

DISTINGUISHED MASONS TO VISIT LOUISVILLE.

Will Take Part In the Celebration of St. John's Day Next Saturday.

Fifteen thousand meals are being prepared by the 150 Ladies of the Eastern Star to serve at the old-fashioned Masonic dinners and suppers in connection with the St. John's day celebration at the Jockey Club park next Saturday. The St. John's Day League had originally intended that the celebration be a purely local affair, but it has already assumed the proportions of a double State entertainment. Probably more Masons from out in the State will be present than those from Louisville and from notices being sent in to the committee, the number of Masons from Southern Indiana who will attend, will be as large as the number from Kentucky.

Arrangements were made yesterday for the Jeffersonville and New Albany lodges to act as escorts of honor for the distinguished visitors. Masons who will be present, Grand Master Lincoln V. Cravens, of the Grand Lodge of Indiana, who with the three Past Grand Masters of Indiana, had arranged to be present yesterday accepted an invitation to deliver a brief address at the evening entertainment. Practically all the Grand Officers of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky and other prominent Kentucky Masons, including the officers and directors of the two Masonic homes will be present and take part in the exercises.

The two Louisville commanderies and the Lebanon commandery will act as escort of honor for the First Kentucky regiment which will give the sham battle. The soldiers of the regiment, who will march from the gate to the grand stand under escort of the guards of honor. The sham battle will be given at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

SECURES QUARTERS IN PAUL JONES BUILDING.

The Commercial Trust Company, of which Sam P. Jones is president has secured quarters in the Paul Jones building, according to an announcement made yesterday. The three stores facing Fourth avenue running north from Green street will be occupied by the company. These stores comprise just one-half of the lower floor of the building.

GREAT RECEPTION

GIVEN KING HAAKON AND HIS ROYAL PARTY.

People Wait In Sun Until Gunboat Brings Its Valued Passengers.

Trondheim, June 19.—King Haakon VII., his queen and his son, rest tonight in the ancient capital of Haakon the Good, where Norway was first created a nation. They came at 6:30 o'clock this evening in the gunboat Heimdal. The elaborate preparations for their reception had hardly been completed before crowds began to congregate along the route of the procession from the pier to the palace. They waited in the Norway sun that streams upon Trondheim long after other suns have set.

At five minutes after 6 o'clock the guns of the Danish warship Hekla, booming the royal salute, gave the crowds the dramatic announcement that the King's yacht was approaching. The full salute was fired and the granite walls of the Fjord had not ceased echoing it before the Heimdal departed. The first figure to be seen was that of the King, who stepped out of the yacht and entered the palace. The King's son, Prince Olaf, in a white sailor suit held high above the rail by his nurse, and the crowd barked out another cheer, which was renewed when Queen Maud appeared.

King Haakon is extremely handsome, and his tall, slender figure looked well in an Admiral's uniform. The members of the royal family quickly landed and shook hands with the members of the diplomatic corps, municipal officials and army and navy officers. The King conversed briefly with several foreign diplomats, and told the German Minister, Dr. Steubel, that he was delighted with the prospective visit of Emperor William. The municipality presented an address of welcome for which King Haakon returned his thanks. Then taking Crown Prince Olaf in his arms, the King, accompanied by Queen Maud, entered a carriage, and escorted by a troop of cavalry, drove to the palace through cheering crowds. Throngs of people surrounded the palace for hours and cheered the King and Queen when they appeared at a window.

Although Norway is regarded as a safe country, the bomb blast of Europe and a country free from violent political animosities, the Norwegian police are taking precautions to protect King Haakon and the visiting Princess and other notable personages.

CAVE DISCOVERED ON KENTUCKY BORDER.

Bears Evidence of Olden Days—Nine Miles Explored Thus Far.

Knoxville, Tenn., June 19.—[Special.]—A mammoth cave extending some miles in length and of irregular width has been accidentally discovered near the Kentucky border. A river runs through the cavern, and although only a slight exploration has been made on this western curious relics have already been discovered, some of them being undoubtedly the remains of Indian tribes. A special from Jellico says of the discovery:

"The Jellico Water Company has a number of men at work near the top of Pine mountain excavating at a spring which flows from the side of the mountain. In following the stream they cut into a great cavern and a large river which is teeming with fish. The cave extends along the center of the mountain side of the Elk Valley nine miles, and in many places is very large and beautiful, with the rippling water in some places sixteen feet deep. They have found a number of Indian relics, bones of beasts that are now extinct and which filled the mountains in prehistoric days. Many peculiar shaped stones, like images of gods or idols, have also been brought out."

FIRE IN PACKING MATERIAL DOES DAMAGE.

Loss to Kirby's Store and Curran Bros'. Saloon Considerable.

Fire of unknown origin which started in a pile of packing material in the rear of Kirby's store and Curran Bros' saloon, yesterday morning at 7:30 o'clock, spread to the building at 418 West Green street, occupied as a saloon by Curran Brothers, and damaged it to the extent of $3,000. The damage to Kirby & Co. will reach several hundred dollars, a lot of valuable packing material and glassware having gone up in the flames.

W. G. Myers, manager of the Kirby establishment, discovered the fire. He occupies a room over the store, and the place a little in advance of the arrival of the salespeople. On his way to one of the back doors he saw flames flicking the window casing. Hastily closing the fire door, which protects the regular door, he seized a fire extinguisher and tried to smother the flames. He was playing about the window casing.

By the time the fire department, which responded promptly, arrived, the upper floor of the saloon occupied by Curran Brothers was in flames. The fire was soon under control.

NEW SYSTEM

Of Taxation Wanted At Once For Lexington.

MAYOR COMBS ASKS CONFERENCE OF MAYORS.

DR. GRAYBILL WON'T GO TO SAYRE INSTITUTE.

NEW ARRANGEMENTS MADE.

Lexington, Ky., June 19.—[Special.]—Mayor Combs has definitely decided to apply to Lexington, the earliest possible moment, the new system of taxation permitted by the enabling act adopted by the last Legislature, conferring upon cities of the second class the right to regulate their own tax system. He will, to-morrow, mail a letter in answer to the communication recently addressed to him by W. A. Robinson, of the Louisville Board of Trade. In this letter Mayor Combs has not only taken the matter up, but he has also written to all the Mayors of other second-class cities, namely Covington, Newport and Paducah, asking them to meet in conference to discuss this subject either in Louisville or Lexington sometime during July.

Mayor Combs prefers that the meeting be held in Louisville, in order that the conference may get the benefit of the views of the Louisville Board of Trade and have Mr. Robinson and Judge Alex. P. Humphrey at the conference. Mayor Combs stated today that he had practically decided to adopt the system of taxation suggested, so far as Lexington is concerned. Asked what change was contemplated, the Mayor said:

"Simply this: It means that money coming here seeking legitimate investment in industrial or commercial lines shall be relieved of the burdens now imposed by taxation. Other States invite capital, but Kentucky discourages it. Capital is flocking to other States where better opportunities are offered and less burdens imposed by law and custom. The plan is to relieve all money, all evidences of money, stocks, machinery and kindred property employed directly in manufacturing, commercial and industrial enterprises, from taxation altogether, so as to encourage capital to come here for investment."

"It would also exempt all mortgages and other evidences of money from taxation. To tax a mortgage is simply a tax on a debt and as the money is also taxed it amounts to double taxation."

The Mayor said that by this system the city would derive its revenue exclusively from real estate, buildings and improvements, license taxes, and taxes on franchises. Although the taxation on these subjects would necessarily be somewhat higher than now, he did not think it would be burdensome. The Mayor stated that he would not seek to introduce the ordinance providing for this change until after the proposed conference. He said that Louisville had had some experience with the system and that the question of its constitutionality was now before the Court of Appeals, and it is probable they will await the court's decision before taking active steps.

Dr. Graybill Won't Accept.

Dr. W. W. Graybill, of Murfreesboro, Tenn., has withdrawn all intention of accepting the position as principal of Sayre Female Institute, and Dr. Steubel, that he was delighted with the prospective visit of Emperor William. The municipality presented an address of welcome for which King Haakon returned his thanks. Then taking Crown Prince Olaf in his arms, the King, accompanied by Queen Maud, entered a carriage, and escorted by a troop of cavalry, drove to the palace through cheering crowds. Throngs of people surrounded the palace for hours and cheered the King and Queen when they appeared at a window.

Third Fight For His Life.

For the third time James Garfield Smith, colored, was put on trial for his life, before the Circuit Court today. He is charged jointly with John Taylor, colored, with the murder of William Moore, which took place on the night of Sunday, November 20, in George Liniger's saloon. In his first trial, Judge Parker granted him a new trial, when he was again sentenced to death. The Court of Appeals, however, reversed the judgment upon a technical error of instructions to the jury.

A special from Jellico says of the discovery: "The Jellico Water Company has a number of men at work near the top of Pine mountain excavating at a spring which flows from the side of the mountain. In following the stream they cut into a great cavern and a large river which is teeming with fish. The cave extends along the center of the mountain side of the Elk Valley nine miles, and in many places is very large and beautiful, with the rippling water in some places sixteen feet deep. They have found a number of Indian relics, bones of beasts that are now extinct and which filled the mountains in prehistoric days. Many peculiar shaped stones, like images of gods or idols, have also been brought out."

Allen. She will not appear in "The College Widow" next season, but will star in a new play "The Stolen Story."

TO RESTRICT VOTING OF LOUISIANA NEGROES.

Aim of Bill For Regulation of Primaries.

Baton Rouge, La., June 19.—A primary election bill, containing a provision which is intended to restrict the voting of negroes at the primaries, was passed last night by the State Senate by the vote of 25 to 3. This provision gives to the party State Central Committee the right to name one additional qualification for voters at the primaries. Although the negro is not named in this clause, nevertheless those who propose to restrict the additional qualification was for restricting the negro vote. One of the arguments used in favor of this measure was that it might prevent attempts to buy and sell the votes of negroes. Opposition to the restrictive clause developed on the ground that it is unconstitutional.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 20, 1906

"Business."

Tuesday evening, June 19.—The New York market was strong, advancing about two points from yesterday's final prices, but closing at a slight recession from the best prices of the day.

Money on call was steady at 3 1/4 to 4 per cent, ruling at 3 1/2. Time loans were steady at 4 1/2 to 5. Sterling exchange was weak.

Final quotations on wheat for July delivery were off 1/4 to 1/2. Corn was down 1/4 and oats were 1/4 to 1/2 lower.

The cotton market was dull and narrow with a sagging tendency, closing quotations being 3 points under opening prices.

The Chicago cattle market was steady, the hog market weak to a shade lower and the sheep market steady.

The Canal.

In the event of a deadlock between the two houses of the Congress over the type of canal to be constructed across Panama, the President will seize the occasion to decide the matter himself, and his decision will be in favor of a lock canal.

The reports from Washington indicate that a deadlock between the bodies is inevitable, so the American people may as well prepare their minds for the announcement that the canal is to be of the lock design.

The House of Representatives has declared by an overwhelming majority for the lock type. The Senate Committee, on the other hand, reported in favor of the sea-level plan, and, although the Senate as a body has not voted on the question, it is quite generally understood that the sentiment in this branch of the Congress is strong in support of the committee's position.

With so wide a disagreement it is hardly possible for the two branches of the Congress to act conclusively on the question during the present session.

The President, impatient for the completion of the great waterway, and bent on building a lock canal, will proceed to put into effect his own ideas and will.

The President, having fixed his mind on the lock type, would have been not only disappointed but indignant, unless his disposition has changed, to see both houses manifesting a decided tendency toward a sea-level plan. The learnings of the Senate evidently have filled him with disgust. The intensity of his feeling on the subject is illustrated by his frank avowal of a determination to put his veto on a bill for a sea-level canal should such a document go through the Congress and come to him for approval. There is little doubt, then, that a deadlock has no terrors for him. Rather a deadlock during which he will act on his own initiative than a law not to his liking.

If the canal is to be built at all the first thing is necessary is to know what kind it is to be. It is important that this fundamental problem be disposed of at once. Waste attends delay as well as it does haste. The Congress should attend to its business and decide the matter at once. Otherwise the President, on the authority of the Speaker act, which he ignored when it served his purpose, will be justified in proceeding with the construction of a lock canal.

Ellen Terry.

In the demonstrations of affection for Ellen Terry which the English people are now making Americans will join with unreserved heartiness. Her achievements have brought distinction to the British stage and therefore she has reflected radiance upon the whole realm of dramatic art. While our cousins across the water claim her as their own because it is in England that she has achieved her triumphs, it is because it is in England that she has achieved her triumphs, it is because it is in England that she has achieved her triumphs, it is because it is in England that she has achieved her triumphs.

Some there are who will contend that the moment a pessimist achieves success in the role, that very circumstance develops in him a species of elation which is equivalent to optimism;
hence, being successful, he is unsuccessful. On the other hand, an unsuccessful pessimist is one, apparently, whose subconscious optimism is out of harmony with his pessimism; therefore, he cannot realize the pessimistic ecstasy in its completeness. The net result of any pessimism, it would seem, there, whether it be "successful" or
"unsuccessful" is necessarily optimism.

Subtly, in this wise, does Uncle Joe theoretically hope the pessimist entirely out of the atmosphere. Do you follow?

But we digress. We linger fondly on one theme, when there are others not less sweet. For instance:

"I don't object to kickers, mind you, but the man that kicks without cause is a common lar."

Good! And it would seem that this ought to be accompanied by one muscular bang on the bass drum and an emotional roll on the tympani.

In quick succession follow other notable maxims:

"This talk about the country going to the dogs is the mere raving of demagogues."

Again:

"It is a lie to say that the American people have become commercialized."

And again:

"The average man never was so well educated, so free, so well fed, well housed or well clothed. Society never was better balanced than now, nor was the American Republic ever so well established at home and abroad, or more beloved by its people.
As for the charge that the tone of our political life and public service is becoming baser, I have no hesitation in saying, after thirty years' experience in Washington, that Congress has constantly improved in its devotion to the public service as well as in efficiency and strength.
To say that it is controlled by a few rich men or by a few large corporations is to say that the more than eighty millions who create it are no longer competent for self-government or that they are vicious."

But of all the fine flights of Uncle Joe's muse, our preference alights on this:

"Our civilization rests on the hustling of the human unit."

"The hustling of the human unit" deserves to be "inscribed high on the pages of literature," as they say when they are graduated, or on the scrolls of music, when they are musical. It is pithy and expressive.

Indeed, much does depend upon the hustling of the human unit. Uncle Joe can speak with authority. He is both a hustler and a unit. He hustles in and out of the halls of the Congress; he hustles through whatever legislation he desires and hustles into oblivion that which he objects to; he hustles to keep the sacred tariff alive and well, and they do say, in some quarters, that he hustles for the presidential nomination. As a unit he makes laws for the land of the free and home of the brave. He is not only a unit, but it. He is the National House of Representatives. In short and in fine, Uncle Joe is the greatest living example of the Hustling Unit.

J. Edward Addicks, of Delaware, who was recently defeated for the senatorship, does not accept the result with the fortitude and equanimity to have been expected of one who has had the experience in life which has been his lot. He claims that twelve of the Republican members of the Legislature elected as Addicks men by a constituency loyal to him were untrue to their pledges and voted against him. This is a risk incurred by everyone who relies upon his money to secure votes.
In a contest of that kind when the choice is settled by a caucus, the temptation to one who has yielded to such influences in the election is hard to resist in a caucus, and it was there that Addicks lost his race. In an interview expressing his feelings and explaining his defeat he comments somewhat bitterly upon a dispatch from the President to Senator Allen, which, he says, seems to disclose an interference in the internal politics of Delaware which, if continued, will make Delaware a Democratic State. So note it.

Notwithstanding the great destruction of property in San Francisco by the earthquake and the fire which followed it, the internal revenue collector of that district reports that the development of California's industries was not injured or retarded. This is not surprising when he had claimed that they were stimulated, instead of depressed. As proof of his statement he reports that the receipts of his office for the period beginning June 1 to June 15 show an increase of 6 per cent, over those for the same period last year. This is indeed a hopeful indication illustrating how great are the recuperative powers of the people who have been so sorely tried and forecasting what we may expect from the new city when it has been reconstructed and rehabilitated for its new career of prosperity.

The Supreme Court's decision also affects the case of Frank Hoffman, the condemned assassin of John B. Hays, and he will be granted a respite by
Gov. Folk when the woman's sentence is respite.

Gov. Folk Will Later Decide Whether
She Must Be Hanged.

Jefferson City, Mo., June 19.—Division
No. 2 of the Supreme Court to-day overruled a motion for a rehearing in the case of Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, sentenced to be hanged on June 19, for the murder of her husband in Kansas City
two years ago.

Gov. Folk left to-day for Bloomington, Ind., where he will deliver an address to-morrow. He said he would return Friday and grant the condemned woman a respite of either thirty or sixty days to determine whether or not to commute her sentence to life imprisonment.

The Supreme Court's decision also affects the case of Frank Hoffman, the condemned assassin of John B. Hays,
and he will be granted a respite by
Gov. Folk when the woman's sentence
is respite.

overruled a motion for a rehearing in
the case of Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, sen-

murder of her husband in Kansas City
two years ago.

Gov. Folk left to-day for Bloom-

The Meat Inspection Bill.

The sharp passage at arms between the President and Congressmen Wadsworth, of New York, Chairman of the Committee of Agriculture, in regard to the Meat Inspection Bill has been followed by a second letter in rejoinder.
In it the President confesses that there was an error in his first letter, wherein he stated that there was no provision for making the plants accessible, at all hours, to the inspectors. In explanation, he says, he had relied upon a statement of Senator Beveridge to that effect. He then states that his chief objection to the bill of the committee is in the court review provision, as a better one to prevent the reminding of the evils complained of could not have been suggested by the packers themselves. But the President having dealt with these two points, with very good tact, waives further controversy by referring to the passage in Mr. Wadsworth's letter in which he said that if the President would point out specifically wherein the bill fails to accomplish his purpose, "it will be promptly remedied." Accepting the suggestion, he says he had conferred with Mr. Adams, of Missouri, a member of the Committee of Agriculture, who, upon a statement of his objections to the bill, promptly agreed to the exclusion of the court review proposition,
"and also as to the dozen other changes which we think should be made."

This letter of the President which was dated the 16th inst., discloses more clearly the personal part which he has taken in legislation pending before Congress, than has yet been afforded, although in the Railroad Rate Bill his personal influence was brought to bear upon certain Senators in somewhat similar way. But in this last case he has thrown himself into the contest quite as much as if he were a member of the Legislature, instead of the Executive Department of the Government.

Presidents have, heretofore, in messages to Congress, recommended such measures as they have deemed necessary, in accordance with Section 3 of Article 2 of the Constitution, which provides that the President "shall from time to time give to Congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend measures as he shall judge necessary or expedient." But active personal participation in legislation by the Executive is contrary to the spirit as well as the letter of the Constitution. In the individual cases where there has been such interposition of executive influence, personally exercised to control legislation, there may not accrue any pernicious results. But it establishes a precedent which hereafter may be used to warrant even graver excess of authority. The theory of our Government recognizes three co-equal but distinct and independent branches of Government, the Executive, Legislative and Judicial, neither of which is authorized to encroach upon the provision of the other. The junction of the three in one is the essence of tyranny, and of either two of three, is proportionate usurpation. If the President, with all the power and patronage which attach to his office, can, at will, bring his personal influence to bear upon the legislative branch, he can,
with equal propriety do so in respect to the Judges of the Supreme Court.
It matters not that the motive is good;
it is the violation of the principle governing our system and pernicious as a precedent.

As the result of the President's letter to the chairman of the Committee of Agriculture and his interview with Mr.
Adams, it is now announced that the bill has been modified to meet the views of the Executive, and, as so altered, will be reported to the House.

As Speaker Cannon is understood to be in favor of the measure and to have conferred with the President and the committee on the subject, it will doubtless be passed without debate under the operation of the previous question.

Optimistic "Uncle Joe."

In the pages of one of the current magazines Uncle Joe Cannon prattles away in characteristic style. Breezy metaphors, aphorisms, philosophy and epigram come sizzling, singing and smiling from his ruby lips to enliven the drooping spirits of a world. He sets free a vocal symphony, in which the warbling of birds, the gurgling of brooklets and the bourgeoning of flagolets are suggested but not reproduced, since birds, brooklets and flagolets are too harsh of tone to be easily imitated by the soft, purring, opalescent vox humana stop which Uncle Joe uses in his business.

It is of Optimism that the Speaker speaks and the singer sings. Thus we find, tucked away in a maze of brilliant counterpoint, this motif:

"It does not require much brains or much information to be a successful pessimist."

"Successful pessimist" is a phrase which delights us. It is so paradoxical, so whimsical, so unique. It implies that there are such articles as "unsuccessful" pessimists. The thought at once provokes speculation as to the fine distinction between the "successful" and "unsuccessful" pessimist.

Dowle threatens to come back after death. All right. The country is willing to take chances on his coming back from the other world if he will only go there.

Speaking of Government ownership,
there is Russia, for instance.

ATONIA, Ky., June 19.—[Special.]

The Latonia Oaks has been run and won by a grand looking place of horseflesh—Content, from the barn of Clay Bros. And while the victory was a hollow one, it nevertheless stamped the filly as one of considerable class, and one that will undoubtedly live up to the expectations of her owners. After her showing in the last year as a two-year-old she was generally considered to have but one equal, and that was Whimsical. Since then she developed wonderfully, and in many respects resembles that grand horse, the latter being a long striding filly, and an unquestionable weight packer, as was demonstrated to-day, when she gave away all the way from ten to thirteen pounds. The filly's speed was not the only thing that impressed her. Yet she did it in such an impressive way, as to elicit the commendation of every one gathered at the course. Under her restraint in the race she took command when her rider was ready, and thereafter the outcome was never in doubt.

In the betting the daughter of Bridge-wood ruled favorite, and the liberal price of even money was laid against her, a 1-to-3 shot. From a betting standpoint the race afforded very little speculation. What was recorded was noted about Edward Frazer's mare, Content, which gave such a good account of herself in the kind of going a few days ago. The question that was asked by the minds of her followers was, would she be able to stick out the extra quarter, under pressure. This the Contender filly did to do, after getting a mile and a half, and although she had received a very careful ride at the hands of Trotter, who had saved every inch of ground and thereby evened her up to the pace, she quit all over rounding the far turn.

At the last minute Follow the Flag, a well-known hunter, was added, but the field had not gone a quarter before it was dropped back hopelessly beaten. When the start came Sister Frances was first, showing, attended by Content, who was fighting for her head. Trotter had all he could do to keep her straight. Rounding the turn, the latter was able to get on with the possible exception that Austin, who was the last to start, was a bit of a straggler, and it was easily to be seen that the filly was not going to succeed in allowing him to get pocketed. Down the back stretch they went, and at the half Austin was a mile and a half behind, and under punishment Sister Frances came again near the end. The Contender filly, who had no contention for the place, Content was an easy thing.

Elude Tactics Opening Dash.

The day's opener brought fourteen very ordinary players, on which the play was about equally divided among St. Noel, Alma Gardia and Platt. The latter track was the favorite of the players receiving a jolt of considerable proportions. After the running a confusion of the kind that is usually witnessed when the winner, who was returned in W. Grater's Lissak filly, Elude, was put up for another race, was witnessed. The man with the halter, stepped forward and gave a boost of his own, and the filly, who was a bit of a straggler, was able to get on with the possible exception that Austin, who was the last to start, was a bit of a straggler, and it was easily to be seen that the filly was not going to succeed in allowing him to get pocketed. Down the back stretch they went, and at the half Austin was a mile and a half behind, and under punishment Sister Frances came again near the end. The Contender filly, who had no contention for the place, Content was an easy thing.

The Minks Shows Class.

The third, which was a condition affair, at one mile, brought together as evenly a bunch of runners as was ever started at Latonia during the meeting. Those who followed the dog thought that the last out of the race was the son of Topgallant, who ran such a corking good race to Belvidere, being beaten by a short head by the latter. In taking the measure of Matador and Lady Mink, a favorite of the crowd, the latter was a superior hand, and the former was a slight shaking up and outmaneuvered the latter. The latter had good racing legs, and an excuse. Matador, who took up a runner-up position for three-quarters, stopped very badly in the run home, finishing out the money.

Long Shot Goes Over.

The sixth was the "hottest thing" put over during the week. Knowledge was the favorite of the crowd, and was turned loose at the very July odds, 30 to 1. This odd player has been knocking at the door of the race track for some time, and to-day was the day. During the race, the favorite of the crowd, the latter was a superior hand, and the former was a slight shaking up and outmaneuvered the latter. The latter had good racing legs, and an excuse. Matador, who took up a runner-up position for three-quarters, stopped very badly in the run home, finishing out the money.
